Fidelity Services Learnership 2026/2027

Description

The learnership offered by Fidelity Services aims to equip unemployed individuals, aged between 18 and 35, with vital skills and qualifications in End User Computing. This program provides participants with both theoretical knowledge and practical workplace experience over a period of 12 months.

Participants in this program will work towards obtaining a National Certificate in End User Computing, which is designed to enhance employability and provide foundational skills in technology and computing. The program is hosted in Midrand, ensuring accessible learning for participants within the region.

Responsibilities

Learners are expected to engage actively in both the theoretical and practical components of the program. They must demonstrate a strong commitment to developing their skills and participate fully in all scheduled activities. The program demands a high level of professionalism and a willingness to learn and adapt to various tasks and environments.

Qualifications

Eligible candidates must be South African citizens with a Grade 12 or Matric Certificate. The program is specifically targeted at unemployed youth within the age range of 18 to 35 years.

Skills and Competencies:

Applicants should possess a strong command of the English language, excellent administrative and organizational skills, and the ability to work independently and professionally. Good interpersonal and communication skills are essential, as is the ability to engage professionally with personnel at all levels. Candidates should be highly motivated, enthusiastic, willing to follow instructions, and capable of working under pressure.

Job Benefits

This learnership provides participants with comprehensive training that is crucial for career development in the field of computing. It offers an opportunity to gain valuable hands-on experience and acquire a recognized qualification that can enhance future employment prospects.

How To Apply?

Prospective applicants should ensure they meet all the specified requirements before applying. Detailed application procedures will be provided to eligible candidates, who must submit all necessary documentation to demonstrate their eligibility and readiness to participate in the program.
